OUR SCHOOL COMMUNITY

The simple joys of life are devoting time to family and friends, lending a helping hand to those in need and being proud of your small-town roots. Who wouldn't want to spend time with people who share these values? Palco, Kansas residents know just how important it is to invest in what matters most. Named in 1888 after two Union Pacific Railroad workers, Palmer and Cole, Palco began as an industrious drilling community. Now, this welcoming community lures both young and old alike who share the ideal of peaceful living. The Palco PRIDE organization sponsors various events in the community including an Easter Egg Hunt and Christmas festivities. A fabulous Youth Center furnishes local youth with numerous activities such as a theater for local movies, a fitness room and a fully-equipped kitchen. The mantra "Home of the Roosters" gives new meaning to Friday night football. Tucked in a valley and surrounded by trees, the football field emanates with the pride of the locals. Palco crows about its one of a kind frisbee disc golf course, its clean community, its vital businesses and its first-rate school. One of the best small towns to live in, Palco makes it easy to appreciate the simple joys of life. Narrow roads and awe-inspiring beauty will lead you into Palco, Kansas. A small-town experience like no other will bring you back.
